Mussolini, the Italian dictator, has been losing popularity in democrateally we have been losing popularity in democrateally we have been losing popularity in democrateally as the recent speeches have sounded like the sword-rattling outbreaks in which the Kaiser used to indulge.

OUR DAILY POEM

By EDGAR A. GUEST

YOUTH Old times, gold times.
Times when we were young.
Where's the song that can compare
With the song we sugge.
Melancholy middle-uge
Looks across the way
Telling hearts were lighter then
In its month of May.

Old times, bold times.

Times before a care
Had come in to weight us down,
Oh, but they were fair!
Then we danced to merry tunes.
Unlike those today,
New we cannot keep the time
When the fiddlers play.

Old-times, gold times.

Times of mirth and play

But the songs would still be sweet.

Yould we sing today.

Mirth keeps tripping down the way
Laughter bin't dead.

Yesterday our hearis were young

Now our youth has-fied.

Of times, bold times, Dearly are they kept. Oft our heads have bowed to care Often we have wept. We may tell them as we will Of the songs we sung. They would rather sing today Who teday are young.
